Intern Duties

Interns are regarded as members of the PKSOI/ USAWC staff with an assigned project mentor to provide direction and guidance throughout the internship session.

Internships at PKSOI offer numerous benefits with our program designed as a collaborative learning environment benefitting both the students and our faculty and staff. We offer unparalleled flexibility in creating real world, dynamic research projects that assist not only PKSOI's mission, but further the knowledge and understanding of peace and stability operations for the student.

Interns

Requirements

- ◆ Must be current graduate or undergraduate students from accredited academic institutions to include the Service Academies. Their academics should focus on fields within Peacekeeping and Stability Operations (public administration, political science, security studies, and related fields). Students that have graduated cannot be considered.
- ◆ Students seeking academic credit, must be enrolled through their academic institution’s official internship program. PKSOI will work with your institution to ensure appropriate academic requirements are adhered to.
- ◆ Interns are accepted from academic institutions that are accredited by agencies recognized by the U.S. Secretary of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation.
- ◆ Barracks housing is available for Academy and R.O.T.C. Cadets only. Carlisle Barracks does not have a dining facility. All others are responsible for their own housing arrangements. A variety of “fast food” and restaurants are located on Post or within walking distance of Carlisle Barracks.

International Applicants

- ◆ PKSOI will not sponsor any foreign national for the purposes of VISAs or other U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) requirements. Such students must be sponsored by a U.S. academic institution, usually by way of an exchange program.

Remote Internships

- ◆ We will consider having an intern complete an internship remotely; however, such internships are rare. If interested, applicants must provide the same application materials as other applicants. Additional requirements may be needed to ensure the student, mentor and identified project(s) can be accomplished remotely throughout the session. If selected, the project management will be accomplished through electronic means.

PKSOI OVERVIEW

The United States Army Peacekeeping and Stability Operations Institute is the one-stop stability and peace operations information conduit for the Army.

War fighting is expensive—in humanitarian and economic terms. No one knows this better than the U.S. Army. PKSOI is an organization that “thinks outside the box” and understands the benefit of bringing in new ideas from across disciplines.

We know that instability is an international issue and we want to be part of the solution. It is with this spirit that PKSOI provides internship opportunities. We believe they are worthwhile learning experiences for all of us and reinforce a collaborative learning environment.
